

Media Services

The professionally trained and certified teacher librarians shall be responsible for the instructional materials selection process within Media Services.

Media Services shall purchase a wide range of instructional materials on all levels of difficulty, with diversity of appeal, and presentation of different points of view. Consideration will be given to instructional, administrative, and physical criteria. Materials selected shall represent realistically our historic and contemporary pluralistic and multicultural society, along with the roles and life styles open to both men and women in today's world.
